SYNDICALIST CASE HALTED BY SICKNESS

Trial of Anita Whitney is Postponed Until Wednesday Owing to Illness of Juror and Defense Attorney

Defendant Makes Personal Plea for Delay for Week and is Admonished by the Court; Alternate May Fill

On the showing that the chief counsel for the defense and one of the jurors were ill with influenza, Judge James C. Quinn today postponed the criminal syndicalist trial of Miss Anita Whitney to Wednesday morning. Miss Whitney herself made a personal plea to the court for a longer continuance of the trial, but it was refused.

Physician's testimony, given in court by Dr. W. A. Clark as to the condition of Mrs. Lucille Stegemann, a juror, and to that of Thomas M. O'Connor, Miss Whitney's chief counsel, showed that both were very ill, and unable to resume attendance at the trial at this time.

J. E. Pemberton, for the defense, asked a continuance for a week and the release of the jury from custody. Deputy District Attorney John W. Calkins opposed a longer continuance than two days, and his view was taken by the court.

The court also decided to keep the jury in the custody of the deputy sheriffs. On Wednesday, if Mrs. Stegemann's condition prevents her resuming her duties, Mrs. W. H. Haines, alternate juror, will assume her place.

MISS WHITNEY IS CAUTIONED BY COURT

Before the court had ruled, Miss Whitney asked to make a statement. Judge Quinn demurred at first and, in the middle of the statement, warned Miss Whitney not to discuss from her subject. She said:

"I do not consider that Mr. Pemberton is my chief counsel or that the conduct of my case is in his hands. Anyone who has seen the trial during the week past will know that Mr. O'Connor is in charge, and I am an American citizen. I am here to ask for sympathy, but to justice. You must remember that I am on trial for an offense that carries with it a penalty of 14 years, and I am naturally anxious to enter as strong a defense as possible."

Court was delayed for some time this morning, to permit the arrival of Dr. Clark, who was summoned by deputy sheriffs to the Hotel Oakland Saturday night when Mrs. Stegemann was taken ill. Dr. Clark testified that the diagnosis of her case as influenza was unquestionably correct and that there was no immediate possibility of her returning to the case. Pemberton produced a letter from Dr. Stegemann's physician declaring that O'Connor was also ill with influenza and would be confined to his bed for an indefinite period.

Pemberton declared that Miss Whitney was also ill and that it was feared she, too, had contracted the disease.

WEEK'S CONTINUANCE ASKED AND DENIED

In view of this situation Pemberton asked a week's continuance. Calkins returned with the declaration that the court had originally assumed charge of the case and was succeeded only at the very opening of the trial by O'Connor; that O'Connor was unacquainted in detail with it up to that time, and that the continuance for two days would afford Miss Whitney opportunity, if she desired, to secure new counsel who would find the transcript of evidence so far introduced ready to hand.

In reply to Calkins' argument that the jury, being locked up meanwhile, was costing the county a heavy expense, and was meanwhile itself getting uncomfortable, Pemberton asked that the jury be released from custody until the trial was resumed. Without releasing the jury from custody, the court ordered a continuance to Wednesday morning.

Prosecutions to prevent a spread of influenza further among the persons attending the trial, Judge Quinn issued an order this morning barring all of the space within the court railing to anyone except officers of the court, including attorneys and jury and press.

Mrs. Stegemann was taken ill at the Hotel Oakland, where she was in custody of deputy sheriffs with the other jurors. Dr. W. A. Clark and Robert A. Glenn were called, and advised her immediate removal to her home, 2118 Eighth avenue, which was permitted by the court.

ACCUSED DOESN'T ATTEND MEETING

On the advice of her attorneys Miss Whitney did not appear to speak at the mass meeting of the Labor Defense League at the Bolshoi hall last evening. Strikers were to have offered verbal protest against the criminal syndicalist law, for alleged violation of which she is now being tried. Petitions to Congress and the legislature for repeal of the anti-sedition and criminal syndicalist laws respectively were adopted.

William B. Clegg, who defended James McHugh in the first of the syndicalist cases here; Rev. Robert Whitaker of Palo Alto and Frank Sullivan of Portland were the speakers. Rev. Whitaker spoke particularly against the supposition that radicalism is inextinguishable from violence.

"No radical with any sense believes in violence," he said. "More than 500 persons attended the meeting."

SEISMOGRAPHS RECORD SEVERE EARTH SHOCK LASTING TWO HOURS

Earthquake shocks as recorded by seismographs today at the University of California and elsewhere, fell on the first day of Professor Porta's initial earthquake period for February. He predicted severe quakes for February 2 to 4.

The light rains of yesterday and today also bear out the Porta prophecy for February, that the period from February 1 to 3 would be preceded by a slightly warm spell and that there would be scattered rain and snow in the Pacific Northwest.

BERKELEY, Feb. 2.—An earthquake that lasted for two hours and forty-three minutes was registered on the seismograph at the University of California. The distance of the center of disturbance is estimated at 5000 miles from here. The quake began at 2:25 a. m. and is believed to have been unusually heavy.

SEATTLE, Feb. 2.—The University of Washington seismograph early today recorded an earthquake which was estimated centered at a point approximately 5000 miles east of Seattle. The first shock was recorded at 2:44 a. m. At 3:13 a. m.

ALLIES COMPLETE LIST OF GERMANS FOR TRIAL

PARIS, Feb. 2.—The list of German subjects whose extradition is demanded by the allies was finally approved by the council of ambassadors today. The council also approved the terms of the note to accompany the list. A drafting committee was charged with the drawing up of the note.

PARTY LINES LOST IN FIGHT ON ARMY BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Party lines apparently have been wiped out in the Senate in a growing movement in opposition to universal military training. Members on both sides of the aisle are preparing to attack the Senate army reorganization bill's training provisions.

On the Republican side, Borah, La Follette, Gronna, Capper and Leavelle are among the leading opponents of the plan. McKellar and Sheppard, among the Democrats, have already declared against it.

U. S. RAIL AGENT SLAIN; HIS HELPER WOUNDED

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—H. W. Wegman, claim agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad branch of the United States railroad administration, was shot and killed, and H. L. Clausen, his assistant, was shot in the leg this afternoon in the offices of the railroad administration on the fifteenth floor of the Otis building.

John Donovan, former investigator of Wegman, is alleged to have done the shooting. Witnesses told the police that Donovan had run from the office with blood on his hand and face and a revolver in his hand.

Donovan surrendered to the police this afternoon. In a statement he said the shot which killed Wegman was fired accidentally while they were juggling for possession of the revolver.

"Wegman wounded me," he told the police. "He fired me two years ago and whenever I got a job he had me fired."

JANUARY MARRIAGES ON INCREASE; 'TIS LEAP YEAR

The Leap Year girl is on the job in Alameda county.

At least that is the inference drawn from the marriage license records which show that during January there were 93 more licenses issued than during January of last year. The total number of licenses issued last month was 305, according to the records of the county clerk.

Let it not be understood, however, that the blushing, prospective brides who accompany the one of their choice to the marriage license bureau admit they took the initiative. On the contrary they all deny such an assertion when asked by Genmull—but how can the figures be explained?

Likewise the hesitating swains deny their fiancées "popped the question," but some of them will admit that the stage for the proposal was set by some means not of their own contriving. They do not credit their fiancées with causing the silver moon to shine with more than ordinary brilliancy, but they do think that the rosy nook in the garden or the subdued light in the parlor did not "just happen." Perhaps say some of these swains their fiancées in a hesitating manner the eyes made to dart tantalizing glances, nor fluffy clothes worn in a manner to reveal seductive glimpses of charms just hinted at, say these prospective bridegrooms. But are any of them sorry that these arts of the modern Eve have been practiced upon them? Nary a one.

News of the Churches

Throughout the Catholic churches of the East Bay district special processions and ceremonies were observed yesterday in appropriate manner with beautiful music or solemn order. Beginning at the early mass at St. Mary's, and continuing for days, the Novena to the Blessed Virgin of Lourdes will be celebrated. There will be masses at 7 and 9 o'clock each morning, including a sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The pastor is the Rev. Father E. J. Dempsey. St. Francis de Sales Church sang a pontifical high mass yesterday in commemoration of the feast day of their patron saint, and the services were attended by many parishioners. The Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna was the celebrant. Rev. John Cawley of Los Angeles delivered the sermon and the master of ceremonies was the Rev. James Cawley, assisted by Rev. F. Millet. Gerard Tallandier directed the special music.

The forty hours' devotion began at 8 o'clock mass with very appropriate ceremonies at St. Elizabeth's Church in Fruitvale, of which the Rev. J. J. O'Connell, O. F. M., is pastor. The different societies, as well as the children, took part in the procession.

FIRST CHRISTIAN. A unique service was enjoyed at the First Christian Church last night when the Rev. J. J. O'Connell, O. F. M., is pastor. The different societies, as well as the children, took part in the procession.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL. Tomorrow morning the seventeenth annual convention of the diocese of California of the Protestant Episcopal Church will meet in Grace Cathedral, with clergy and lay delegates from all the parishes and missions of the diocese in attendance. As is the custom, the meeting of the House of Church Women will also be held at this time in Grace Chapel. Tonight the annual dinner of the clergy of the diocese will be given in Guild Hall of Grace Cathedral, and the delegates to the House of Church Women will enjoy their dinner at the California Club. Rt. Rev. William Ford Nichols will preside at the convention tomorrow at 10:30 with holy communion. Rt. Rev. Edward Lambie Parsons, recently consecrated coadjutor bishop, will preside at the business sessions of the convention, which will close on Thursday of this week.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL. Rev. Frank J. Van Horn, pastor of the First Congregational Church, gave a discourse yesterday morning on "Why the Modern Man Likes Prize Fights," preaching to a congregation of interested listeners to the sport and those otherwise inclined. Dr. Van Horn had a message for both, but he said in closing: "The prize fight is the savage state in his likes and dislikes. We drop our civilized veneer easily and resort to practices of the dark ages, as evidenced in the world conflict. Perhaps hundreds of years from now it will be unthinkable to minds to witness two men punning one another to the point of unconsciousness. The 'prize fight' we must all undertake is to battle down the animal within us and work toward spiritual goals."

FIRST M. E. CHURCH. Dr. John Stephens, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, spoke at both services yesterday. His subject in the morning was "The World's Master Passion," and in the evening he continued on the series of "The Ten Commandments as the Foundation of Character," the parable of the fig tree. "Remember the Sabbath Day to Keep It Holy," Dr. Stephens held that too few of Christian people realize the true meaning of this commandment, and especially of the word "Honor." At the Sunday-school services a Chinese university student, Stephen G. Mark, addressed the classes.

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL. Delivering four of what he termed "paraphrase sermons," Dr. Charles L. Kloss, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church last night discussed these questions: "Does Prohibition Make Hypocrites?" "Is Spiritualism of the Devil?" "What of Hoover's 'Chances'?" "The Limits of Will Power."

Dr. Kloss declared that prohibition will make hypocrites, but insisted that "better a few hypocrites and violations of the law than no law at all." He said: "There doubtless are many who are sincere in their opposition to the liquor traffic, but there will be no more hypocrites than in connection with the enforcement of other laws."

Dr. Kloss is said to have been the first man in Oakland publicly to urge the nomination of Hoover for President. He said last night that it would be beyond his province as a minister to urge the election of either candidate after nominations are made by the parties, but now as a citizen it becomes his duty to pull for a man of power and character.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN. Rev. Frank M. Slesley of the First Presbyterian Church preached last night on the subject, "The Canals of the Dark Mind." He said in part: "The dark mind sees in others the evil that is in itself. And the campaign of the dark mind is aggression and confusing world conditions today. World conditions today are not right, but the dark mind is making them far worse than they really are. It is the dark mind that thinks that the great trouble is material when the crisis of the trouble is spiritual. The need of spiritual regeneration. And it is the dark mind that assails the motives of great leaders and great characters."

"But the dark mind does not stop with material things. It assails Jesus, the most spotless character that ever breathed the air of this planet. And the sad feature is that so frequently the essential Paul goes down, Lincoln is shot and Christ is crucified, because of the pernicious activity of the dark mind. One of the fundamental needs of this age is to give its great characters a square deal. And the dark mind even goes so far as to devise new religions. There is no such thing as a scientific religion. The religion of Christ is an art and a religion. We need to turn to the light of Christ."

MRS. WOODCOCK, COOPER, APPEAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Warren G. Cooper, geologist, brought here from Cleghad, New Mexico, and Mrs. Alice Harris Woodcock, appeared today respectively before Police Judge Henry M. Owens and Superior Judge Louis Ward, on charges of murder in connection with the death of Edward Kelly, newspaper employee, who was shot and killed by Edgar Woodcock. Cooper was taken into custody at Cleghad last week on a charge of murder after an extensive search throughout the country. Cooper was with the Woodcocks on the night Woodcock shot Kelly, and according to the revolver which the latter used in shooting Kelly, Cooper fled and was traced from San Francisco to Salt Lake city and thence to Fresno. Later he was heard of in New Mexico. Since his arrest he steadfastly has refused to make any statement. Judge Owens granted the plea of Cooper's attorney to have the case continued until February 9.

Mrs. Woodcock also changed with murder in connection with Kelly's death, appeared for trial before Judge Ward. Judge Konnick and State Senator William Kehoe, representing the defendant, requested the court that the date of trial be continued until February 16. This was granted by the defense after Judge Ward had indicated that the case would be sent definitely for trial March 1.

On her way from the city prison to the court room Mrs. Woodcock, who was accompanied by relatives and a police matron, stopped many times in the corridor of the hall of justice to exchange cordial greetings with friends. She appeared to be in high spirits and conversed with her companion in an animated manner about her case.

LAKE DESERTED BY DUCKS AS THE SEASON CLOSES

Does a duck know the game laws of the State of California? He does if he has received his education in the floating school at Lake Merritt.

At 5 o'clock Saturday evening it became unlawful for hunters to stalk small boys to bang away at ducks and it was just at that time that the hub-bub and confusion started at Merritt. This morning butting and confusing world conditions today. World conditions today are not right, but the dark mind is making them far worse than they really are. It is the dark mind that thinks that the great trouble is material when the crisis of the trouble is spiritual. The need of spiritual regeneration. And it is the dark mind that assails the motives of great leaders and great characters."

Oakland Woman Saves Children of Needy China

MISS LEWELLEN LISSAK
Escape Mortality by Greedy Parents.

Saving the children of China's lower strata from becoming detoured beggars by teaching them the art of fine lace making is the life work of Miss Lewellen Lissak, former Oakland girl, who sailed yesterday on the China Mail liner "Nile" from Shanghai.

Nimble little fingers that fashion difficult lace patterns are rapidly overcoming the old Chinese custom of deforming little children that they might become more pitiful beggars, and thus win more gold from tender-hearted tourists, declared Miss Lissak, who has taught 250 Chinese the needlecraft of old Italy. "The native patience of the Chinese," says Miss Lissak, "makes them the world's finest lacemakers. For the finest patterns of Venetian, filet and point lace today comes from China. They also excel in hand embroidery, and it is having a marvelous civilizing effect, too, for it awakens their long latent desire for knowledge. They become apt pupils in other lines."

Miss Lissak is returning to Shanghai after a month's visit with friends and relatives in the bay cities. Her parents now reside at 427 Macdonald avenue, Richmond.

Alameda Nearly Dry When Main Breaks

ALAMEDA, Feb. 2.—Alameda was virtually waterless this morning, though a minor supply was trickling into Alameda from Oakland via an emergency line. The break in the city's water supply at 8 o'clock this morning was not in the main crossing the tidal canal at the Park street bridge, but near the Fitchburg plant. The tidal canal main has been shut off ever since the canal line was broken by the dredger at the time of the big Park street fire.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Broadway, 14th and San Pablo

Unseemly Talk to Be Barred at Courthouse

District Attorney Ezra Decoto and Assistant John U. Calkins held an important executive session behind closed doors today. With hands ready to grab a telephone and with their pencils poised, several scribes—namely reporters—waited with bated breath, in high expectancy, to hear the outcome of the consultation. All had visions of a sensational grand jury investigation, the reported capture in Oakland of General Villa or some similar startling disclosure. Decoto and Calkins then emerged from the office and with stern demeanor and solemn tones announced that a new rule had been adopted censoring language used in the outside office. Both Decoto and Calkins admitted that they themselves had often transgressed, but that henceforth they would restrict their language in the outside office. They reserved the right, however, to "let loose" in their own private offices if they felt inclined.

NAMES OF TWO FAMOUS MEN ON COURT DOCKET

"Next case," said Police Judge George Samuels today. Robert Forgie, court bailiff, went to the door. "Next case—Ole Hansen," he called. There was a pronounced cracking of police court benches as the audience that assembles in court each morning stirred and twisted. All eyes were turned toward the door to glimpse the man who bore the name of the famous general; but he did not appear and the hall was forfeited. "Next case—Ole Hansen," called the bailiff. But Ole did not appear and bail was again forfeited.

Bank Clearing Record Reflects Prosperity

Oakland bank clearings for January broke all records. The figures as reported to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce by the Oakland Clearing House association were $45,129,935.21, as against $35,633,180.53 for January, 1919. The total for January, 1920, is the highest in the history of the clearing house, December, 1919, previously being the record month, with $43,379,638, or $1,149,415 below last month. "Last month's" bank clearings, Walter D. Cole, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said, "indicate that Oakland's business men were right when they predicted on New Year's day that 1920 would be the biggest year in development ever seen in this city. Every sign points to the greatest growth ahead that Oakland ever enjoyed."

UNCLE SAM MAKES REAL MEN AND 'GOOD FELLOWS'

The U. S. Marine Corps Turns Out "Two-Fisted" Chaps Who Can Use Their Heads; Gives Plenty of Travel, Adventure and Excitement.

Corporal, what are your ribbons for?

Tell me what each of 'em means. One I got in the Spanish War. And one in the Philippines. One I got for the China business. For making the Chinks be good. And one for helpin' to block the Boche in bloody old Belleau Wood.

Corporal, if I should join your corps.

O what would it do for me? You'd learn "to range this wide world o'er."

By sky and by earth and sea—To be at home in lands that lie Where the East and the West Worlds meet.

To front the best man, eye to eye, And stand on your own two feet.

O Corporal, tell me, straight, what kind

Of a man the Marine Corps makes?

The sort of chap you're glad to find At your side when a rough house breaks—

The sort of a chap who can crack a joke And laugh when the sky looks black.

The kind who'll share his last lone smoke

Or give you the shirt off his back.

Have you ever seen a Marine swinging by, and envied him his carefree air, the breadth of the shoulders and the depth of the chest under his well-fitting uniform? Is it any wonder the girls have a soft spot in their hearts for these "soldiers of the sea?"

That Marine didn't just happen to be the husky lad he is. He is merely a walking example of what the Marine Corps can do for the ordinarily healthy man. Maybe he was working at a job he didn't care for, didn't have anybody to "pal around with."

The Marine Corps is a body of men, carefully trained to use both hands, both feet and their heads. They are the sort of men who can take Vera Cruz or form a guard of honor for the Prince of Wales, and do both jobs shipshape. They are blood brothers to the French Foreign Legion, the Pennsylvania State Constabulary, the Canadian Mounted Police and the Texas Rangers. They are princes of good fellows, and they're wildcats when they're riled!

No man does his best work unless he likes his job. And no man can do good work without plenty of recreation. It is upon these two principles that Marine Corps training is based.

The Marine must be something of a sailor and everything of a soldier. So he is always learning something new and intensely interesting. In addition to taking on quite a bit of seamanship, he learns to hike like an infantryman, ride like a cavalryman and handle guns like an artilleryman. He knows something of wireless telegraphy and mechanics.

In fact, when he comes out of the Marine Corps there are all sorts of big-paying civilian jobs that are waiting for a man who can do so many different kinds of things and do them well.

To keep a man fit there is nothing like athletic sports, and all Marines are encouraged to go in for boxing, football, baseball and swimming. Competent coaches and trainers are provided and ever ready to help a man to indulge in the form of sport that most appeals to him.

Good Fellowship of the Corps

A life of travel, adventure and outdoor work would naturally attract the man who has the makings of a "good fellow" in him. And nowhere do you find more "good fellows" than in the Marine Corps. If ever you have seen a bunch of Marines in their off hours in barracks or out for a time in any of our large cities, or sightseeing in foreign ports, there is no need to tell you anything about that side of a Marine's existence.

And as for his chances of seeing the world—there is hardly a country on earth where Marines are not stationed at present. They are in Haiti and the Philippines. They are in London, Paris and in China. No big warship sets sail for foreign ports without a detachment of Marines aboard.

Any healthy young man who would like to learn a well-paying trade, and at the same time build himself up physically and see the world, should investigate the U. S. Marine Corps. Don't hesitate to call at the Marine Recruiting Office. You will not be urged to enlist, but you WILL be told THE TRUTH about the service. Send for booklet.

If you are interested call at U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Office, 127 Broadway, Oakland.

Young Women's Christian Association Launches Drive to Obtain $60,000

MISS JESSIE K. PRATT and a few of the 50,000 girls under twenty-four years of age in Oakland for whom the Young Women's Christian Association has provided the only swimming pool exclusively for women in the city. Miss Pratt is president of the Y. W. C. A. Business and Professional Club.

The Young Women's Christian Association celebrated its thirty-ninth anniversary of its founding yesterday by launching a campaign to raise $60,000, the amount of the 1920 budget, which will take care of the administration building and boarding home, develop the International Institute in West Oakland; provide a center for the 1000 colored young women of the city; extend girls' recreation, industrial and religious work; life a part of the mortgage on the Webster-street building; maintain the service bureau and contribute its share to association activities on behalf of the women of the world. More than 200 prominent women of the city are organized into teams who in the next ten days are expecting to obtain pledges for the entire quota.

FACILITIES ENJOYED

More than 1200 individual girls made practical use of the local Young Women's Christian Association last year; 250 girls passed week-ends in the Y. W. C. A. summer camp; 222 girls were assembled in clubs; 1978 swims have been taken since the pool was opened last fall; 4805 employed women and girls were served noon hour luncheons at an average cost of 20 cents during December, making a large total for the twelve months; 800 permanent positions in professional offices, stores and factories were filled; 65 young women are guests of the Franklin-street boarding home; the Webster-street hotel has a waiting list; housing lists have been compiled for the use of women and girls; 4334 girls were registered in the physical department September, 1919, to January, 1920.

The gymnasium and swimming pool in the administration building are the only ones in Oakland for the exclusive use of women and girls. They are equipped with showers and the latest devices for physical culture and clubrooms, the canteen and library are features of the association service.

WORK TAKEN OVER

Oakland has taken over the International Institute which was opened at 401 Perilla street by the National War Work Council four months ago and is carrying out an extensive program of Americanization. The social service committee from Mills College and a group of volunteer workers under an executive secretary are assisting a staff of eight home teachers representing American, Italian, Japanese, Mexican, Jugo-Slav and Portuguese in the educational and recreational classes and home visiting. The sum of $10,000 is appropriated to this work.

The Colored Young Women are asking for a center of their own. To meet their plea $6000 is set aside, a large part of which will be met by the colored population.

PROBLEMS CARED FOR

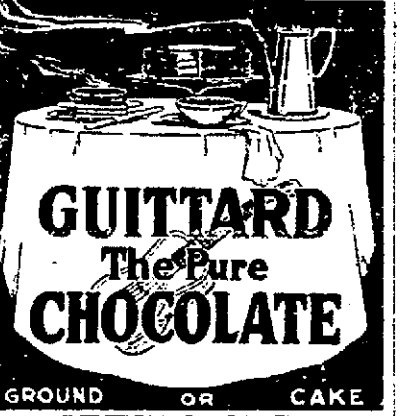

An emergency secretary is the head of the trouble bureau, which takes care of all girls' problems. The association has a summer camp near the Joaquin Miller place which is used for short vacations.

Mrs. John J. Valentine is chairman of the campaign committee. Among her assistants are: Mrs. Arthur Adams, Mrs. A. C. Posey, Mrs. N. A. Koser, Mrs. W. L. Sharon, Mrs. A. C. Baumgartner, Mrs. Gladys Darnold, Mrs. J. G. Hoyt, Mrs. Charles H. Rowe, Miss Winifred Bangs, Mrs. F. A. Allard, Mrs. E. B. de Golia, Mrs. William Nat Friend, Mrs. A. K. Munson and others. The campaign staff includes: General secretary, Mrs. Alice Brookman; campaign director, Mrs. Thomas A.

Two Claim Portland Postmaster's Position

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 2.—Portlanders were in doubt today as to who was their postmaster. Frank S. Myers, who has held the office for seven years and whose resignation by February 1 was asked by his superiors in Washington, reported for duty, having refused to resign.

Robert A. Barclay, chief postoffice inspector, who came here from Spokane to take charge of the local office until a successor to Myers is appointed, also was on duty, in the chief inspector's office at the Postoffice, and expressed determination to take over control of Portland's mail dissemination.

Doug. Fairbanks Home Damaged by Blaze

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—Fire at the home of Douglas Fairbanks, motion picture actor-producer, damaged the building and furnishings early today to the extent of $15,000, according to Fairbanks' estimate. The blaze started in a downstairs room, from an undetermined cause, and destroyed a piano, a number of valuable paintings and other furnishings. The Fairbanks home, valued at more than $200,000, is situated on an estate in the Beverly Hills section of the city.

Training is Advocated by Pershing in Texas

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 2.—General John J. Pershing today inspected Fort Bliss and departed for Marfa. Speaking to 4000 persons at the Coliseum last night he said: "Our boys had to go into the great war with incomplete training, which was unfair. We may not have our allies again to defend us while we are preparing. I am not in favor of a large regular army but wish to see every boy get five or six months' intensive training and then be held in reserve subject to call in case of war. Let us not be caught again unprepared in undrilled men and unorganized industries."

It makes a big difference how you hold the razor.

Come in and let our Service Experts give you the "little knack." Once acquired, it's never forgotten. And don't forget the importance of changing blades now and then.

Shave yourself. Wonderfully simple with the Gillette. And you'll be surprised at the amount of money saved from fees and tips.

Are You Getting Maximum Results From Your Gillette

The Gillette Service Experts and all Gillette dealers want to be of service to every Gillette user in town. They will show you that "little knack" of the Gillette shave—how to prepare the face for shaving; the correct angle-stroke; the adjustment for a light or a close shave. Bring in your Gillette, have it looked over. It may be damaged, bent, out of alignment. If so, they will put it in first-class condition again, free of charge. They may make some valuable suggestions, anyway. When you shave tomorrow morning, try this—Lather the beard thoroughly, and rub well in—that's essential with any shave. Put in a new blade and screw the handle down tight. Then, if you want a specially close shave, unscrew the handle a slight turn.

Hold the razor naturally and easily, and tilt the handle so you can just feel the blade engage the beard.

(Here's where some men make a mistake. They tilt the handle up or down too much.)

Then shave with short, slanting strokes.

Keep the edge of the blade as nearly flat against the skin as you can. Any man will catch the "little knack" of using his Gillette in one or two shaves. In fact, when the Gillette is properly used, the beard slips off without your knowing it.

The all-important thing is to lather well, and to hold the razor partly, with the blade tilted so the blade just engages the beard.

If there is any man in this town who is not getting a satisfactory shave, we want to know it.

GEORGE ELMER HOWARD WILL MANAGE THE OAKS AGAIN

WASHINGTON STATE BASKETBALL QUINSET WILL MEET CALIFORNIA AT BERKELEY TONIGHT

FOREMAN IS DUE TO REPORT ON THE JOB FEBRUARY FIFTEENTH

Cal Ewing Going East Wednesday and May Bring Back Pair of Real Pitchers.

By BOB SHAND.

George Elmer Howard will manage the Oaks again this season and Rollie Zeider will act as captain and direct play on the diamond. George Elmer plans to shake the dust of Paso Robles off his feet about the 15th of this month and he himself hither. Del will leave his overalls at home and don his baseball raiment and stick right on the job until the Oaks finish—where they finish. For a time it looked as though Del would retire from the national game but he couldn't get out. Howard was willing to quit. His ranch needed his undivided attention, as grain is bringing in plenty of kale these days and, anyhow, the old boy is getting tired of the game. But nobody came forward with the price Del demanded for his stock in the Oakland club and as long as he is financially interested the veteran figure he might as well rake in some real money managing the outfit.

Howard believes 1920 will be one of the most prosperous seasons the national game ever enjoyed and consequently he wanted full value for his stock. Certain offers were made for his holdings but Del is a business man and when he couldn't get his price he decided to return to the life of a baseball player.

Rollie Zeider will

Captain the Club.

There is a possibility of someone paying the price Howard demands for his holdings before the season opens and during the summer. If this happens the day Del sells out he will turn over the managerial reins to the man who comes to the Oaks with the understanding that he is to succeed Howard as manager of the club and return with a flock of "prospects." The crop looks good for the year and some of the players are expected to come back with a pair or two. Carl Holmberg and Buzz Arlett made the grade their first time out and may come through strong. Claude

Chell, the third sack of the trial, has been burning up the bushes and his little white make-up if given a real trial. Infielder Practically Ready for Delivery.

Jackman, the Idaho infielder recommended by "Red" Lynch is in town and he is big enough to make good. He is a ball player. Red says he thinks the big fellow will make good as he has a good arm and a good eye. You can't tell about these fellows until they are in the field.

George Spencer and Larry Jones will box a return match at the month.

Could Hardly Stand—Suffered Thirty Years—Restored by Tanlac.

"Daddy Smith's Home Garden Market. Fresh Vegetables and Plants of All Kinds for Sale Here." Nearly everybody in Los Angeles will remember having read the above sign at 2711 South Main street and hundreds of people are personally acquainted with J. P. ("Daddy") Smith over whose place of business the sign appears.

"Daddy" Smith is not only thoroughly posted on business affairs, but is also well up on matters of general interest. He takes especially interesting in the subject of medicine, having, as he says, tried everything during the past thirty years in his efforts to overcome a chronic case of indigestion. In relating his experience, a few days ago, "Daddy" Smith had great deal to say about Tanlac, declaring that it is the only medicine he has ever found that did him much good. Here is his statement:

"For at least thirty years I have suffered the worst kind of indigestion. After eating I would feel up as tight as a drum and feel just miserable for hours. During the past three years, especially, I have suffered agony, and no matter what I ate it only a piece of bread, the results were the same. I often had to get up three or four times at night and take soda or some thing, trying to get relief from my stomach misery so I could get a little sleep and rest. I had no appetite and with only two or three hours sleep at night, and not eating but little, I got so nervous and weak that I could hardly keep going. "I was dizzy all the time and would tremble all over just like a leaf. Well, I was completely worn out and out of work was concerned, and that's the whole thing in a nut shell. I have read and studied a great deal and believe I have tried every medicine I ever heard of and I say right here that I have never found the equal of Tanlac. At first I thought Tanlac was going to kill me like all the rest had, as the first bottle seemed to do me little good, if any. But I believe in giving a thing a fair trial, so I stuck to it, and while on my fifth bottle my stomach began to feel like a new one. Well, sir, today I am in better condition than I have been in for many years and I should be pleased to see weight and strength right along. I work every day without tiring easily, eat just anything I want, and sleep like a log every night. For a long time I have been bothered with my kidneys, but since taking Tanlac they are better, and my whole system has been built up in such good shape that I am glad to recommend the medicine that did the work. I want to say to anyone suffering from stomach trouble and a run-down condition, take Tanlac by all means, for my experience is that there's nothing like it."

White Goods

Synopsis of the installment of "White Goods," appearing in The TRIBUNE Sunday.

Springtime and the big spring-opening week are the items of importance in the basement of the Titanic Store where Sadie Barnett and Max Melzer laud the quality and value of "White Goods." Sadie's Aunt Edith, by her affectionately termed "Dee-Dee," has worked for many years as chief dispenser on the Titanic's ribbon counter, with falling eyesight, the result. Against her aunt's wishes, Sadie goes joy-riding with Jerome Beck, a man-about-town, and wins a proposal of marriage from him. Returning home, she finds that the "great darkness" has claimed "Dee-Dee."

Except that her face was withered, she was like iphigenia praying for death.

"Lemme die! Lemme die!" "Sh-h-h—darling—That's it, rest quiet."

Suddenly Miss Worle flung up one arm about Sadie Barnett's neck, pressing her head downward until their faces touched.

"Dee Dee darling, you—you hurt."

"You won't never leave me, Sadie, like you said you would? You won't leave me alone in the dark, Sadie?"

"No, no, darling; you know I won't, never, never."

"You'll keep me with you always, promise me that, Sadie. Promise me that on the curl of your mother's hair you wear in your locket. Promise me, little Sadie, you won't leave your Aunt Dee Dee alone in the dark. My poor little girl, don't leave me alone in the dark. I can't see, Sadie, I can't see no more. Promise me, Sadie, promise me, promise me!"

From Sadie Barnett's heart, weakening her like loss of blood, flowed her tears. She closed the heart of Edith Worle where it beat like a clock beneath the high-necked nightdress; she made of her bosom a pillow of mercy and drew the head up to its warmth.

"You promise, Dee Dee, on her curl of hair I promise. Always, I will keep you with me, darling, always, always, so help me, always."

CHAPTER V.
Along the road of Newton Heights Spring and her fringing crept out the sun. Even close up to the ruins of the old highway itself, an occasional colony of wood violets dared to show their heads for the brief moment before they suffocated. The threat of rain still lay on the air, but the Sunday rank and file of motors threw back tops, lowered windshields, and turned shining noses toward the greening fields.

In the red-leather tonneau, with her little face wind-blown and bare to the sun, Sadie Barnett turned to her companion and peered under the visor of his checked cap and up into his small inset eyes.

"Is—that the house up on the hill there, Jerry?"

"Not yet. It's right around the next bend."

"Geel! My hands are like ice, I—I'm that nervous."

"Lemme feel."

"That's a swell way to treat a fellow who's promised to marry you."

"You—you must excuse me today, Jerry. Honest, with a wink of sleep last night—you must excuse me today. I—I'm so upset with poor Dee Dee, and on top of that so nervous about—your little girl and the house and everything. And, Dee Dee—when I think of Dee Dee."

"Don't think, Peachy; that's the way to get around that."

"I—I can't help it. You ought to see her at the doctor's this morning, how—how the poor thing lost her nerve when he told her that there—there wasn't no hope."

"Aw, now, cut the sob stuff, Peachy! You can't help it. Nobody can, that's the trouble. Say, what kind of a little queen will they think you are if I bring you home all soppy with crying?"

"I ought not to have come, Jerry. I'm not kind of company today. Her heart is so—she's got so—so soft with me and she made me come while she—she tried to take a nap. Poor old Dee Dee!"

"Yeh, and poor old devil. Maybe she's just getting what's due to her."

"Sure, I believe every one of us gets what's coming to us."

"She—"

"Here we are, Tootsie. See, Peachy, that's the house I bought her and her mother, and they was fixin' at it before the plaster was dry."

"Oh! Oh!"

"That's a concrete front. Neat, ain't it? That's a mosaic-floor porch, too. I built on a year after her and her mother was married."

"It's a beautiful house, Jerry. You're the kind of kid that knows how to appreciate a home when she gets it. But her with her she-devil of a mother, they no sooner got in than they was to side with each other against me—her and her old mother trying to learn me how to run my own shebangs."

"Where—"

"Glad they're living in a dirty Harlem flat now and tryin' to put it over on me that they're better off in it. Bah! If I had to double up on alimony, I wouldn't give her a smell at the house, not a smell."

"Say, but ain't it pretty, Jerry, right up over the river and country all around, and right over there in back the street-cars for the city when you want them?"

"This is going to be your street-car, Peachy, a six-cylinder one."

EIGHT ARMENIAN BABIES ADOPTED

Simultaneous with sermons in nearly all Oakland churches in observance of "Near East Relief Sunday," the announcement was made that St. Paul's Episcopal church had adopted five Armenian babies for the coming year, and Mrs. Wallace Alexander had adopted two.

"There are some 500,000 more in dire need," says H. C. Capwell of the Near East Relief committee, "and it is our job to save what we can, not turn away appalled at the magnitude of the suffering. Oakland must, at least adopt 100 babies. That is the least we can do. When people are hungry, class creed or nationality make no difference."

The Presbytery of the San Francisco district has voted unanimously to co-operate in Near East Relief work, and Leo J. McCarthy, former secretary of the Knights of Columbus, is organizing among the Catholics of Oakland.

Devot Overruled on Mt. Vernon, Report

Colonel Anderson, an expert from Washington, who was in charge of the overhauling of the Mount Vernon when the vessel was being prepared for service in the East, caused General Devot to be overruled in the matter.

AUDITORIUM IDEAL AS BOURBON HALL

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—The main hall of the exposition memorial auditorium, where the national democratic convention will be held June 28, will accommodate about 10,000 persons. Forty-five hundred can be seated on the floor of the hall, 4,418 in the balcony and there will be standing room for 1,500 others.

The four-story auditorium of concrete and granite, erected in 1915, at a cost of $2,000,000, is sold by the bureau of monumental buildings of the War Camps Community Service to be "the finest and most costly structure of its kind in America."

It is one of a group of public buildings in the city center.

There are two large supplementary halls in the building. One will seat 900 persons and the other 750. In addition there are eight other halls and nineteen rooms that might be used for committee meetings.

Through the thirty-seven separate exits, it is estimated, the building, though crowded to capacity, could be emptied in six or seven minutes.

THE COMMUNIST ENEMIES.

After a hiatus of two weeks, during which Attorney General Palmer was accused of getting "cold feet" on the question, Congress has revived the work of enacting a law for the control of radicals who would overthrow the Republic and providing for the deportation of alien revolutionaries and other criminals. The precise moral ailment of Mr. Palmer is not known; it may be low temperature in the feet or it may be a deficiency that prevents him from pursuing the performance of a plain duty for a very long continuous period.

But Congress is not dependent upon the Democratic Attorney General in the enactment of laws for the safety of America. It can go right ahead with its program to clear up the United States as a plotting ground for the agents and confederates of Lenin and Trotsky. As a matter of fact, Congress should be prepared to get along without the assistance of the administration. The government that has permitted the paymaster and directing head of the Bolshevik and Communist agents, L. C. Martens, so-called ambassador of the "soviet government of Russia," to openly pursue his activities cannot be depended upon for a consistent show of firmness and decision.

It is a somewhat curious fact that in this connection, Secretary of Labor Wilson, from whose administration the radical council of the Republic have enjoyed so much privilege and coddling, has just rendered an opinion that an alien who is a member of the Communist party is subject to deportation under the federal laws. The law on which Mr. Wilson bases his opinion is the Act of Congress approved October 16, 1918, which reads in part:

"Aliens who are members of or affiliated with any organization that entertains a belief in, teaches or advocates the overthrow by violence of the government of the United States, shall upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided in the Immigration Act of February 5, 1917."

Secretary Wilson has concluded (he was unable to do otherwise upon the record before him) that the Communist Party advocates the overthrow of the government by force and violence. The constitution of the party, as contained in the manifesto distributed to all the locals in this country, requires all members to dedicate their efforts to revolution against the Republic, using every violent and murderous method at their disposal. As a sort of summing up of the instructions contained in the party constitution, the following appears (page 30 of the manifesto):

"The revolutionary era compels the proletariat to make use of the means of battle which will concentrate its entire energies, namely mass action, with its logical resultant, direct conflict with the governmental machinery in open combat. All other methods, such as revolutionary use of bourgeois parliamentarism, will be of only secondary significance."

This is the Russian Bolshevik effort which the Communist Party, and the Communist Labor party, the I. W. W. and other radicals and anarchists, organized and unorganized, have undertaken to further in this country, for the overthrow of the Republic and the destruction of the government. A local of this Communist party has been permitted to organize and hold meetings in the city of Oakland.

Deportation is effective for the alien criminals. But the revolutionaries inclined and pledged to violent methods are not all aliens. Many of them are native born, a few enjoying, by the accident of birth, respectable family names and family connections. After Congress and the government dispose of the aliens some effective steps against the native traitors must be provided for. Many of the State laws are partially effective. The anti-syndicalism law of California, if competently applied and sustained, is one instrument the people possess against their enemies. It is to be hoped that no silly sentimentality nor political crookedness will prevent the stern application of this law to every offender, regardless of sex, origin or the influence of friends.

MORE GOLD NEEDED.

Many of the financial and economy experts support their theory of stabilizing the dollar and prices of commodities by the assertion that there is too much gold. They say that when gold is plentiful prices always increase, hence the remedy is to decrease the gold in circulation. Hence Prof. Fisher's fantastic proposal of retiring all gold from circulation and issuing paper certificates in its place, each certificate for a variable and varying quantity.

What do the figures say? During 1919 the United States imported $76,500,000 and exported $368,100,000 gold. Allowing for the gold that disappeared from the bullion and coinage supply and went into the arts, the net loss of gold during last year was approximately $300,000,000. In percentage, this was a decrease in the gold of the monetary system of about twelve percent. But prices did not decrease. On the contrary they showed a slight advance at the end of the year.

The actual truth is that the exports of gold brought the disproportion between the gold reserve and the paper credits into sharper and more disagreeable contrast. It accentuated the inflation of paper credit. If the decrease in gold supply affected prices at all it was toward an increase.

ADVANTAGES AGAIN RECOGNIZED.

The reason for the removal of a large industrial plant from Portland to Oakland as given by the vice-president of the concern is that Oakland has the coast-to-coast railroad connection as well as more frequent and regular service to the rest of the world. Mr. E. S. Pierce of the Palmolive company included this statement in a report rendered after a survey had been made of the Pacific Coast and after offers of sites on Puget Sound had been made. It is a report and decision that bears out the Oakland belief that here is the logical center of western industry, and one that was acted upon favorably by the entire board of directors of the company.

That the greater shipping facilities of San Francisco bay and the central location on the Coast appealed to the factory operator when he saw the necessity for the enlargement of his plant is plain. The strength of the appeal is made more evident by the fact that he made his decision in the face of an urgent request for reconsideration from the Portland Chamber of Commerce and tempting offers of sites near Seattle.

The coming of the plant here will mean that many more cargoes of copra, used by the company, will unload in Oakland harbor and that more bottoms for export use will be available here, as those ships will return to the Orient with merchandise loaded from Oakland docks. Oakland is not only getting a $300,000 factory, $150,000 worth of machinery and employment for many men. It is becoming the home port of so many more transpacific ships that will be diverted from the northern harbor.

A LONG TASK.

Unless something new in court procedure is evolved the trial of the eight hundred Germans, whose surrender is demanded by the Allied governments, will be dragging on when most of the men charged will have approached old age. Regardless of how certain is the testimony and how available the evidence, the mere presentation of the cases and the time granted for pleas will take years.

If the allied tribunal gives to each of the accused but one day to present his defense, more than two years will have gone by without allowing any time for the "prosecution."

It would seem evident, then, that around this trial will be gathered a community of officials, witnesses, stenographers, and clerks of various kinds who must remain on the scene throughout its duration. From it will come each day news to be read around the world and the court will become something like an established institution. It is probable that the cases against the accused men have already been proved beyond question and that the proofs are but waiting to be presented. Another method to expedite the work will be to try certain offenders in groups and there are indications that this may be done.

But with all expedients to shorten the time necessary for the trials it is certain that punishment will not overtake the eight hundred as soon as it should.

CUBAN LIBERTY.

It was not so long ago that "Cuba Libre" was the cry and we sent an army of men down there to give the country the liberty desired.

Today there is a new army headed for the little island, an army of tremendous proportions and an abiding thirst. The internal revenue office in Chicago says that twelve former saloonkeepers and bartenders leave there each day for Havana and New York steamship figures show that one must book sailings months ahead. Railroads are selling tickets to Georgia and Florida by the thousands and from there the thirsty ones are negotiating the narrow water-line of division by boat and airplane.

Most of those who go to Cuba now go for what they say is their personal liberty or to make money in the boom that is on. In a slightly ironical way is history repeating itself with its altered meaning of "Cuba Libre." Prohibition here has brought to Cuba hotels, race courses, prize fights, promoters, and visitors, until the whole complexion of the place is changed. The non-refillable has taken the place of the Havana filler and more and more those who have been there are speaking of the place as the "right" little isle.

The question is, does Cuba like it or will she go dry in self-defense?

NOTES and COMMENT

An illustration of how the people fall for a josh is the sober discussion that has been going on about the shooting of a rocket to the moon, and the other one about signals from Mars. The story of the "Boy With a Telescope Eye" isn't as hard to accept, as either of the others.

Auto wrecks do not always involve tragedies. Sometimes there are comedies. There is the case of the man out on the road beyond Hayward, who, imagining that he was on a motorcycle who asked for a match was a motor speed cop, stepped on the accelerator and worked up such reckless speed that he landed in a ditch, wrecking his machine. All who go out on the road in machines may not be reckless, but all appear to have a healthy regard for speed cops.

It is another phase of a sore subject that, because our Mexican policy is so indefinite and uncertain, the Ambassador to that country has resigned. It may be readily understood that one who is equal to the job should find such a situation uncomfortable. He never knows where he is at.

Should the undoubted success that attended the women's boycott of high priced milk suggest a boycott of some fashions that may be said to have little that is elevating except their cost, it would be logical. But that is entirely different again.

A national law to treat automobile theft is advocated. Such a law may be desirable, but can hardly be expected to cure the evil. It may be recalled how drastic the penalty was in new countries for horse-stealing, and how it never stopped the practice. And the treatment of auto thieves has never approached in severity that meted out to horse thieves, and it might be stiffened some, even without a Federal enactment.

"Decreased farm production next year and consequent increase in the cost of living, due to dissatisfaction of farmers" is predicted by the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General. How an assistant postmaster-general comes to express an opinion in a matter that would seem to be long to the agricultural department may be a question not entirely germane; but the general appearance of a foundation being laid for further food boosts is very much to the point.

The looting of the Newman bank recalls the looting of the Santa Rosa bank, and both serve as reminders that the supervision afforded by State and Nation does not effectively supervise. The country bank can be robbed from the inside of half a million suggests a lack of sophistication on the part of the officials who are employed and entrusted to keep things straight.

The physician who characterized the government limitation of a pint of whisky in ten days for a flu patient has views in common with the sailor who sneeringly compared his ration of a gill of grog to an inch of cordwood.

Not long ago the innovation was considered discussed of San Francisco clubs employing women waiters and other help. Now the reverse is reported from Chicago, in the Y. W. C. A. employing male housemaids. According to that, had general, as appears before the war, the world is upset, indeed.

Eastern paragraphs are working overtime. This from the New York Telegram: "Notice a burning desire to know whether Mr. Hoover is Republican or a Democrat. Consultation of the ouija board indicates that he is a Hooverite."

When things begin to go contrary it seems they never stop. The national administration has lately suffered a number of jolts, and now a Missouri Congressman charges that cabinet officers eat too much. As it could be put, they are "all time away at lunch." It is a hard world when allowance is not made for overworked public servants to get a bite to eat.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

Mrs. Lulu G. Hall, census enumerator for the city of Hollister, announced today that every house in this city has been visited and the census is complete with the exception of a few people who were not at home when she called, a few who are out of town, and some who reside in hotels and rooming houses. The old 1910 record of 29,000 people has been passed, but Mrs. Hall indicated that the increase for the past ten years would not greatly exceed that figure. While the enumerator is not permitted to give out any direct information, she did say that Hollister's population inside of our very restricted municipal boundaries had not shown any great growth.—Evening Free Lance.

Plans for the planting of 150,000 eucalyptus trees will be discussed at a meeting of the Ontario farm center, the farmers having been raised by the students of the Chaffey Union high school. Farmers in the vicinity of Ontario and Chino will plant the trees in places to be selected by the officers of the farm bureau and will care for them in return for the shelter afforded from the hard winds. It is estimated there are now trees enough available to plant a double row of them for a distance of 150 miles.—San Bernardino Index.

The Sacramento river is threatening to break the low water record this winter. The recent mild rains had practically no effect on the flow of water and it has been well below normal all winter. The river for the past few days has been less than a foot higher than it was in August of last year. Saturday the reading was 1.7 feet, which was .5 of a foot higher than the average August flow. The average stage of the river for the month of January in the past year is 6.5 feet.—Red Bluff News.

ISN'T SCIENCE WONDERFUL!

THE ADRIATIC QUESTION

By JAMES A. DRAGICEVICH

PART II.

The world's most eminent living historian, the Italian Guglielmo Ferrero, stated in Rome, March 1, 1919, that "Dalmatia is purely Yugoslav as the national consciousness of the Slavs has come to life again. The annexation of Dalmatia by Italy would prove to be a terrible calamity for Italy, Yugoslavia and Europe in general."

The harbor of Trieste ethnographically is situated in Yugoslav territory, the census of 1911 showing the presence in the city of 102,615 Italians and 52,519 Yugoslavs. The Italians as usual immigrant laborers (like in San Francisco) while the Yugoslavs have nearly 500 associations in the city including the largest banks, which is perfectly natural, as the city is surrounded and supported by the Yugoslav provinces of Trieste, Gorizia, Istria, Carniola, Carinthia and Styria; all these regions being directed to the port of Trieste, because it could not live were it deprived of its hinterland. The commercial relations with Italy are relatively very weak. The following figures furnish us the proof:

(a) The total importation and exportation of Trieste by sea amounts annually to about 34,000,000 hundredweight; Italy participates in this figure with 4,179,000 hundredweight; the Slav provinces of the Adriatic with 2,257,000 hundredweight; Great Britain with 4,935,000; the Levant, Greece and the Black Sea with 5,644,000; the extreme east with 2,129,000; the United States with 2,107,000 hundredweight; Italy occupying therefore a less important place than the Adriatic Slav provinces which hold the third rank.

(b) The exportation and importation of Trieste by rail amounts annually to about 2,000,000 hundredweight; the Slav regions participate therefore alone with 9,000,000 hundredweight, or one-third of the whole, while Italy participates only with a paltry 800,000, that is less than one-ninth of our own number! The importance of these figures increases still more, in an appreciable proportion with the importation by road of victuals, wood and cattle from the Slav hinterland, as well as with the exportation in the same way of colonial goods.

They have no important banks; the most important (Banca di Credito Popolare) disposes only of a capital of 1,000,000 kronen, while on the other hand one Yugoslav bank (Yadranska Banka) alone possesses a capital of 21,000,000 kronen. The city of Trieste is therefore dependent from its hinterland, without which it has no right whatever to its existence. In admitting even that Trieste has an international character, it is manifest that Italy has the least share in this international character and that she has no need of this port, while she has Venice a short distance away.

In consequence of all the facts exposed above, the city of Trieste is from a geographical, economical and ethnographical point of view, intimately connected with its hinterland, the provinces of the eastern (Yugoslav) coast of the Adriatic. The fact is recognized even by the Trieste authorities for economical questions. Mario Alberti, in his work, "Trieste e la sua Fisioconomia Economica" (Rome, 1916), in which he pleads the thesis that, for the defense of Trieste, Italy ought to annex, at the same time as the hinterland, Fiume, the whole Croatian and the whole Dalmatian coast! The absurdity which the vindication of Trieste by Italy—results in—is evident by the fact that in order to annex the province and city of Trieste, with a little more than 100,000 Italian inhabitants on Yugoslav soil (like in San Francisco, etc.), and an area of 55.03 sq. km. (of which 82.53 sq. km. are inhabited by a great mass of Yugoslav majority), Italy ought to annex a Yugoslav population of 1,500,000 souls, occupying 32,000 sq. km.!

This gives the American public some of the reasons behind Italy's participation in the war for "democracy" in which she dickered with both sides, finally accepting the side offering the better price—the price being the thirteen-century inheritance of a neighboring nation, which was supposed to obtain its "liberty" through the principle of "self-determination of nations." This also gives us the explanation why Trieste has never belonged to Italy. All the history of Trieste, formerly independent, is only a continual struggle against the Venetian republic which in her wish to annex and to conquer Trieste, wanted only to annihilate her rival in the north of the Adriatic! The Yugoslav city of Zara in Dalmatia threw off the yoke of Venice seventeen times, but all the time being nearly exterminated, but it has not re-assumed its ancient dignity and still is true to her Yugoslav soul, notwithstanding the descendants of Venetian functionaries in her midst to this very day.

And when Napoleon re-united all the Yugoslav provinces under the name of ancient Illyria, he joined Trieste immediately to his Yugoslav hinterland.

It is impossible not to mention the opinion expressed in Trieste by the Italian immediately responsible for the present Adriatic dispute, Baron Sydney Sonnino, the fallen foreign minister of Italy, who as an author before being minister apparently then spoke the truth when he stated in the review "La Russigna Settimanale" (No. 29 v-1881, p. 338) on the question of Trieste: "Trieste is the most appropriate port for the commerce of all the German region. Its population is mixed, like the population of all frontiers. The vindication of Trieste as a right would be an exaggeration of the principle of nationalities, without presenting any real interest for our defense. Trent, on the other hand, is certainly an Italian country and would represent an addition to our defense."

If this opinion was just in 1881, it must be much more so today. American must not forget that this man Sonnino the foreign minister demanded Trieste from the Yugoslavs and the whole Adriatic.

Yet we hear nothing from our serene allies about the peace conference disposition of "Trieste and its justification"—thus the first and most important economic part of Yugoslavia is torn from the tyrannized nation and cruelly "annexed" by Italy—with more to come—apparently expected.

They now insist upon annexing the only remaining harbor of the Yugoslavs, which is available for commerce, and that is the city of Fiume, and thus strangle the Yugoslav nation before its complete rebirth, thus intentionally sowing the seeds of another world conflict—as the veritable Yugoslavs bred on the battlefields against the Avars, Mongols, Huns, Byzantine Empire, Roman Empire, Franks, Turks, Venice, Austria-Hungary, etc., and still raising their 13,000,000 heads proudly through the ashes of their oppressors, will never submit to such complete strangling and humiliation together with economic misery, by being deprived of both their only available seaports and thus to see the mastery of their imports and exports pass into the hands of a foreign power who would then possess all the three great harbors of the Adriatic.

POISONED SPRINGS

(From The Saturday Evening Post, By Permission.)

Now comes a progressive medical examiner with the novel proposal that life insurance companies supplement the chest tapping and heart listening that form a large part of the physical test for applicants for policies by demanding X-ray pictures of the teeth!

This suggestion is not nearly so far-fetched or overdrawn as it may at first sight appear. Physicians know the dangers that lurk in the minute poison centers that are liable to exist about the roots of the teeth, especially dead teeth. They know that these pestholes are like so many minute springs that unceasingly seep liquid poison into an otherwise wholesome blood stream and cause rheumatic conditions, kidney troubles, neuralgia, arthritis with subsequent loss of sight, general debility and an evil host of other maladies.

Knowing these things, doctors have yearly become more and more insistent that their patients go to the dentist and the X-ray man for examination of the teeth, which are in a position to cause a clean-cut diagnosis. To the lay mind the connection between a bad tooth and a stiff knee is so remote and inconceivable that medical men too often find themselves laughed at and their admonitions have become apparent.

Your dentist can tell you whether or not an X-ray examination is worth the trouble and, knowing your mouth he can indicate with considerable precision where localized infection should be looked for. The detection and location of these poison centers by means of the X-ray is not only certain, but simple, painless and not very expensive. Fifteen minutes in the office of the X-ray man—or Roentgenologist, as some of them call themselves—will suffice. With the results of your visit in his hands, your dentist will know precisely and without any guesswork what ought to be done to rid you promptly and positively of a hidden menace to health and life.

The relief that follows expert attention to these tiny poison pockets is often almost spectacular in its swiftness and completeness.

AUTOCRACY IMPERILS COLLEGES

—PROFESSOR KIDD.

BERKELEY, Feb. 2.—"Autocracy in the administration of the affairs of American universities and the vesting of 'divine' powers in one man named to head such institutions are imperiling the colleges of the country, according to A. M. Kidd, professor of law at the University of California."

Standing for a broader faculty control of the State University, Professor Kidd, who is a graduate of California with the class of 1899 and one of the best known educators on the campus, carries his appeal to graduates in all parts of the State in today's issue of the "Alumni Fortnightly."

Professor Kidd's attack on "one-man" control follows a memorial sent by faculty members on the Berkeley campus to the regents asking that they be represented in the deliberations affecting the welfare of the State institution. While concessions have been made since the framing of the memorial, further action by the regents is deemed important by faculty members.

Since taking his seat as president of the university, Dr. Barrows has shown his sympathy with plans for a democratic administration of the campus and has supported faculty members in their demand. Appointment of Dr. John C. Merriam as dean of the faculties followed Dr. Barrows' request of the academic senate for nominations for the office, while the new president of the university has also relinquished his seat as chairman of the senate for a place on the floor.

Professor Kidd's attack on "undemocratic" administration of universities is written in explanation of the faculty memorial. That the duties of a university president are too complex for one man is his contention. College heads, he declares, are not a necessity.

"An influence tending to the perpetuation of the institution of the presidency is the 'king' idea which nearly one hundred years of republican government has not eradicated," says Professor Kidd, one of the framers of the faculty memorial.

The faculty memorial sent to regents several months ago is still being considered by that body. No announcement as to the opinions of the regents in the matter has been forthcoming as yet.

'Little Theater' Being Projected at U. of C. by English Club Members

House Upon
Campus is Planned

BERKELEY, Feb. 2.—With twenty-five talented students strengthening its ranks, the English Club of the University of California is sponsoring the formation of a "Little Theater" on the college campus, which is expected to lead the way in artistic achievements in the bay section.

In order to carry out the plans of the proposed theater, articles of incorporation were drafted last week, transforming the organization from a college society to a business concern better able to back the new movement.

According to present plans, a theater will be erected on the campus to afford opportunity for artistic presentations both by students and others. Leaders in the movement expect it will be several months, however, before their plans can be realized and in the meantime the club will devote its efforts to its productions a year and to the publication of the two campus magazines, the "Occident" and "Pelican" which the members control.

Appearing as directors of the club on the articles of incorporation filed last week are the names of five of the best known students on the campus: Miss Maude Ellis, star of college plays; Miss Helen Davis, Miss Mary Gale Clark, W. A. Brewer and Clarence D. Greenhood.

President David P. Barrows was included among the neophytes initiated into the club ceremonies held yesterday at the Hotel Oakland. A large piece of asphalt obtained from a nearby street was used to crash the heavy window. A gaping hole was made in the glass, and cracks radiate in every direction.

MISS MAUDE ELLIS, who is one of the directors of the "Little Theater" that will be formed by University of California students as another campus activity.

WINS BRIDE FROM RIVAL IN BIG HURRY

A telephone message asking for a divorce and permission to join the family circle at dinner was the first intimation Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Boyes of this city had of the marriage of their son, Gordon McCausland Boyes, former ensign in the United States navy, and Miss Lucia Smith, daughter of Mrs. Albert Smith of 268 Santa Rosa avenue.

Only a few days ago Miss Smith announced her coming marriage to Leon Edson Rushion of Pasadena, former U. of C. man. The ceremony was to have been a fashionable event at St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city. Rushion also held the rank of ensign when in the service.

Cupid decreed otherwise. Young Boyes arrived Tuesday from the far east and met Miss Smith Saturday for the first time since his arrival home. The two had been chums since childhood. Boyes persuaded Miss Smith to reconsider, whereupon the bride-elect canceled her marriage license and another was issued, the wedding ceremony being read a short time after by Judge Mortimer Smith.

It was a complete surprise to us all," said Mrs. Boyes, mother of the bridegroom. "I first learned of the marriage when Gordon called up at the dinner hour and informed us they would be home in time for dinner."

WINDOW BREAKER STEALS JEWELRY

Smashing the big plate-glass window of Diehl's Hair Store, 469 Fourteenth street, at 5:30 o'clock this morning, an unidentified thief who is still at large reached through the hole in the shattered window, gathered up a large quantity of jewelry and hair switches and then ran down Washington street. Chase was given by the police, but he disappeared.

A large piece of asphalt obtained from a nearby street was used to crash the heavy window. A gaping hole was made in the glass, and cracks radiate in every direction.

The sound of the crash was heard by the Central police station, the crash was clearly heard by the patrolmen on duty. They dashed out and quickly located the scene of the crime, but the thief had gone. The sound of a man running down Washington street was heard, and a posse of police took up the chase.

Police investigation of several burglaries reported last night was started this morning. One man, who is believed responsible for the burglary of the offices of Dr. G. E. Kleiman, a physician in the Blake building, has already been arrested. The offices were entered by the use of a pass key and a quantity of drugs stolen.

It is said by the police that the man held in connection with the theft is a drug addict. He is held in the city prison for investigation.

Marauders entered the basement of the Granada apartments last night and broke into the trunk of Miss G. Mott. Sixteen yards of satin and many articles of wearing apparel were taken.

Thieves also broke into the apartment of Sidney W. Mills, 1445 Oak street, last night, using a pass key to gain entrance, and looted the rooms. Valuable jewelry was secured.

A methodical burglar broke into the home of N. Benson, 344 Glendale avenue, last night. Using a stepladder to reach the level of a window, he pried it open with a jimmy and entered the house while the family was absent. Jewelry and silverware were taken.

DRAFT PLOT SENTENCES AFFIRMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Frank P. Howenstein, an applicant and Miss Kennedy, both of Hollywood, a suburb of Los Angeles, must serve ten and eleven years respectively in the federal prison at McNeil island for conspiring to aid scores of men to evade service in the draft army, by impairing their vision and physical condition by fitting them with defective eye glasses. The sentences imposed on them by the lower court were affirmed today in a decision handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals.

The history of Howenstein's and Miss Kennedy's activities, their subsequent arrest and the circumstances surrounding their arrest, reads like wartime fiction.

More than ever with the Civil Service board come under the domination of the mayor with its members seated, Beebe and J. P. Chambers, who has been acting president, are avowedly Davis men.

While Fisher's resignation is put on the grounds of his inability to serve and work in Washington at the same time, it is understood by a number of his friends that he welcomed the opportunity to leave the post.

From the board's council actions taking the efficiency department of the city and the endless bickerings which membership seems to entail, are known to have been distasteful to him.

SUCCESSOR NOT SLATED
Mayor Davis is still undecided as to the man to succeed Fisher. He was informed Saturday night that the resignation would reach him today and expressed surprise at the news.

The telegram from Fisher, news of whose resignation was told exclusively in Sunday's TRIBUNE, follows:

"The Federal Board is unwilling to release me at the present time for a return to the coast. My devotion to the welfare of Oakland, therefore, compels me to tender herewith my resignation, to take effect at your pleasure. The opportunities for these past four years of service have been a sincere satisfaction. Civil service will continue unimpaired."

Another echo in the City Council-Civil Service Board controversy was heard this morning at the council session when Commissioner W. H. Edwards, who led the recent opposition to the Civil Service Board, opened another attack on the board in an hour of commendation, securing the municipal body for failure to hear several appeals that are now before it.

Commissioner Edwards accompanied his communication with a resolution demanding that the Civil Service Board hear and determine the appeals now before it. After asking for the passage of the resolution, however, Commissioner Edwards stated that action be held up for a full council, because of the absence of Commissioner F. F. Morse, and the resolution was held over.

The letter from Commissioner Edwards was read and filed without comment by the other council members.

Thief Gets $1000
Haul in Jewelry
BERKELEY, Feb. 2.—The theft of more than $1000 worth of jewelry from the rooms of F. W. Lovelock at the fashionable Elmore Court apartments, Ridge Road and Le Roy avenue, is being investigated today by the police.

The Lovelock apartment was entered between 5:30 and 5:35 o'clock last evening. None of the other rooms in the hotel were molested. Detectives A. S. J. Woods and Bert Fraser are working on the case.

According to the report made to the police last night the following articles were taken from the Lovelock apartments: One solitaire diamond ring, $350; diamond and sapphire dinner ring, $550; gold earrings, $25; pearls, $40; wrist watch, $32; total value $1097.

Fisher's Official Resignation From Civil Service Board Is Received by Mayor Davis

Official notice of the resignation of President Ralph T. Fisher from the Civil Service Board was given yesterday by Mayor John L. Davis in a telegram from Fisher, who is in Washington serving with the Federal Board of Vocational Training. It came in the form of a telegram which explained that the resignation was prompted by the fact that the sender could not be released from his work at the capital for several months.

With the appointment of a successor by Mayor Davis will be added another chapter to the story of the council and board wars, for it is not believed that the majority in the city council will favor a man too strongly pledged to the mayor's policies. It is recalled at the city hall that it was council opposition that prevented the mayor from appointing his former secretary, Preston Higgins, to the board at the time George Kauffman resigned. A compromise was reached when Davis appointed Ralph A. Beebe.

More than ever with the Civil Service board come under the domination of the mayor with its members seated, Beebe and J. P. Chambers, who has been acting president, are avowedly Davis men.

While Fisher's resignation is put on the grounds of his inability to serve and work in Washington at the same time, it is understood by a number of his friends that he welcomed the opportunity to leave the post.

The telegram from Fisher, news of whose resignation was told exclusively in Sunday's TRIBUNE, follows:

"The Federal Board is unwilling to release me at the present time for a return to the coast. My devotion to the welfare of Oakland, therefore, compels me to tender herewith my resignation, to take effect at your pleasure. The opportunities for these past four years of service have been a sincere satisfaction. Civil service will continue unimpaired."

Another echo in the City Council-Civil Service Board controversy was heard this morning at the council session when Commissioner W. H. Edwards, who led the recent opposition to the Civil Service Board, opened another attack on the board in an hour of commendation, securing the municipal body for failure to hear several appeals that are now before it.

Commissioner Edwards accompanied his communication with a resolution demanding that the Civil Service Board hear and determine the appeals now before it. After asking for the passage of the resolution, however, Commissioner Edwards stated that action be held up for a full council, because of the absence of Commissioner F. F. Morse, and the resolution was held over.

The letter from Commissioner Edwards was read and filed without comment by the other council members.

Shipbuilders Thank
Tribune for Rate Aid
Editor OAKLAND TRIBUNE: You will doubtless recall that the Pacific Coast Shipbuilding Traffic Association during the month of August last inaugurated a campaign with the view to securing lower freight rates on ship steel from eastern producing points to the Pacific Coast, thus to gain permanency of existence to the shipbuilding plants after completion of the work being performed for the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

The result of our appeal to the United States Railroad Administration, except with the aid of the publicity given our petition has been favorable to our members—a reduction of 20 percent in the freight rates on ship plates being granted, effective as of February 25, 1920.

As the generous publicity extended by your valuable paper assisted materially in the furtherance of our cause, we feel that a great share in the victory belongs to you and we desire to assure you of our sincere appreciation for the wholly unselfish manner in which you opened your columns to us. Yours truly,

The letter from Commissioner Edwards was read and filed without comment by the other council members.

By L. R. Bishop, chairman.

We are continuing for another week the opportunity to secure a high-grade Prism Binocular at an exceedingly low price—$40.00.

(War Department.)
These glasses were manufactured under Government contract and supervision. When hostilities ceased the contract was canceled upon the understanding that the makers could afford to sell the binoculars on hand at less than actual cost of production.

They must be seen to be appreciated. Your inspection cordially invited.

W.C. T. U. WILL

EMPHASIZE WORK

Prohibition Law

Basis of Show

On Orpheum Bill

Query in Part

The object of the regional conference, five of which the National W. C. T. U. is holding in different parts of the United States, are to compare views on law enforcement, to the jubilee membership campaign, to promote educational methods of total abstinence, and through these and other lines to vitalize everywhere the new program of the W. C. T. U.

The meeting for the group of Western States will be held in San Francisco, in the First Presbyterian church, corner of Van Ness avenue and Sacramento street, February 18-19. On the evening of the eighteenth there will be a banquet at the Hotel Ramona, at which the speakers will be the Hon. Charles W. Adams, U. S. senator from California, and Frank M. Silva, prohibition enforcement commissioner for California.

Also Christine Luning of Norfolk, Va., and Miss Frances Willard of Chicago, who are under appointment for work in China. On the evening of the nineteenth, there will be a grand temperance rally at which Mrs. Mary Harris Arthur, the "Georgia Cyclone" will speak, and an Americanization pageant will be presented.

Mrs. Sara J. Dorr of San Francisco, president of the W. C. T. U. of California, will preside over the banquet of the evening, the national treasurer, in presiding.

The woman who goes to the show with this reviewer has praise for said reviewer's fortitude, but she remarked possibly the opportunity afforded to study and analyze such a sort of paucity. A remark considered entirely uncalled for. At that, however, the opportunity was present for there are numerous dancers of show-biz, talented feet, voices that can be raised in song and shows that make possible the woman's feat of agility and strength.

Charles Taylor & Co. in "Virginia Rye," and a lot of attractive girls and competent men in "Extra Dry" are the acts that particularly feature the demised Demon. The first is a bit of a comedy, the second is the "great desire" that exists among certain persons and deals with the subject in satirical vein. The other of them came on the stage with a lot of show-biz, talented feet, voices that can be raised in song and shows that make possible the woman's feat of agility and strength.

Query in Part

It is a big play that the Fulton players will across this week. A drama not lacking in comedy, yet one obviously written with a purpose. In "The Big Chance" one finds a partial answer to that perennial question which has moved the peoples of the world for the last four years—"why the war and what its purpose?" It revolves about a woman's love for a man.

In the various manifestations presents an interesting analysis of the great passion which moves to heroic deeds. The "Big Chance" begins with a rather bit of comedy, yet holding all the elements of tragedy, works out in a splendid fourth act whose scene is laid in the dust of a regimental headquarters somewhere in France, where an ending, poeticaly artistic, gives promise of just desserts to those who "carried on."

"The Big Chance" is a bit different from that type of drama which the Fulton players are in the habit of presenting, for the stock company of the Fulton is not so much a preparation to give a production which might not suffer greatly with the New York interpretations of this same play of Stuart Oliver and which has been running for some time in its credit in the East and which has come to the West for the first time. ONE KILLED,
DOZEN HURT,
AUTO TOLL

One man was killed and twelve persons were injured as the result of automobile accidents in Oakland and nearby cities yesterday.

In four instances the victims were pedestrians struck down on the streets by drivers of cars. All but one were taken to hospitals by the automobilists who had caused their injuries. Slippery pavements and careless driving are given as reasons for the long list of accidents.

The dead: Henry Morrill, 40, struck by automobile driven by Shew Gitt, at El Cerrito.

The injured: Edward T. Warner, automobile driver of Richmond; at Roosevelt Hospital in Berkeley; contusions and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. W. P. Bonified, Stockton; fractured hip and bruises; will recover.

W. P. Bonified, Stockton; bruised cut.

Miss Ethel Barry, 1041 East Eleventh street; bruised and cut.

Archie Ambrie, 1060 San Pablo, 5 years old; broken leg.

Julius Weir, 475 Seventh street; bruises.

Morrill was killed when he was struck by an automobile driven by Shew Gitt at El Cerrito. He was riding Tour Marshal Johnson of Stege in clearing away wreckage and aiding a victim of a previous accident. It was in the first accident that Edward T. Warner of Richmond was injured. The automobilist who struck him did not stop to offer assistance.

According to witness the machine crashed into the rear of Warner's built wagon at San Pablo avenue and Fink Lane, and then sped away. Warner's horse, frightened at the crash, ran down San Pablo avenue, striking Warner to the street. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to Roosevelt hospital.

It was while she was hastening to the Emergency Hospital with 5-year-old Archie Ambrie that Miss Ethel Barry crashed into the machine of John Dacha, 5036 Telegraph avenue. She was cut by flying glass and quite badly hurt. Dacha took both to the hospital. The little boy was struck by Miss Barry's car after it had skidded for a number of feet in the effort to avoid him.

The accident to Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bonified of Stockton occurred at First and Broadway last night when the Bonified car was struck by a Southern Pacific freight engine. At first it was thought that Mrs. Bonified was fatally injured, but it is now believed certain she will recover. She was removed from the Emergency Hospital by her husband last night.

Julius Weir was run down by an automobile driven by O. R. Shipps, 3308 Haste street, Berkeley, who took the injured man to the Emergency Hospital. He has a lacerated face and several broken bones and is in serious condition.

In San Francisco yesterday three men were painfully injured when their automobile skidded and crashed into a street car. They are:

W. S. Willis, 1973 Golden Gate avenue; Gus Harweiger, 677 Felt p. Boulevard of Stockton; occurred at Genoa street, Oakland. The automobile was badly damaged.

In a collision between cars driven by Phillip Laville, 1479 Seventh street, and H. B. Howell, 802 Athens avenue, the drivers were slightly injured, and Mrs. Catherine Madros, 1500 Third street, also received cuts and bruises. The accident happened on Seventh street. The injured persons were treated at a drug store and then removed to their homes.

Rudolph C. Gings, 5416 Boyd avenue, Oakland, escaped injury last evening when his automobile collided with a Southern Pacific electric train at Adelina and Sixty-second streets.

One of the "Altitude" young women who will make "It Happened in Peru," the comedy to be given under auspices of Aahmes Temple. She is MISS LOUISE FORCADE.

MYSTERIOUS BEAUTY HAS
'EM GUESSING

The mysterious lady from Peru has the town guessing. Saturday night her beauty attracted so much attention that traffic was blocked in the downtown district. Women crowded around her trying to get a close-up of her magnificent gown while men nudged one another and remarked, "That's her."

Henry Lloyd Brown knows the identity of the beauty, but he is keeping his secret well.

Henry says she was seen on the stage of the Auditorium theater Friday night when the premier of "It Happened in Peru" is given under the auspices of Aahmes Temple, Mystic Shrine.

Brown is the author and producer of the play, and in addition to the mysterious Peruvian beauty promises some other sensations.

Brown is so reticent that he will not even tell what happened in Peru. He says it was "sufficient" and lets it go at that.

Those who have attended rehearsals say Brown is right. The play is a riot and will be staged on a magnificent scale. It is a musical comedy with trimmings—SOME trimmings.

A beauty chorus of eight is only one of the features. There are 100 in the company. The costumes were made in Paris; the scenery was painted by two of the foremost artists in this country and the music is superb.

That is the "inside dope" direct from those who have been present when Brown put his artists through their paces.

And enough people have been already interested sufficiently to fill the Auditorium theater on the opening night—Friday, and seats are selling like hotcakes for the Saturday matinee and evening performances.

Because of the inclement weather Miss Mignon Laville did not fly from Durant Field to the City Hall at noon today. Miss Laville made a wager with Cliff Durant that she could learn to operate an airplane in three hours and the test was to have been made today at noon. If the weather is propitious Miss Laville will fly tomorrow at the noon hour. She is supposed to circle the dome of the City Hall and return to Durant Field guiding the plane unaided. Lieutenant Harding will occupy the rear seat of the airplane and will take control should Miss Laville get into trouble.

GLASS IS OUT FOR SUFFRAGE
AS PARTY AID

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Carter Glass, known as bitter opponent of woman suffrage, caused jubilation in suffrage circles here today by urging ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment by Democratic legislatures which have not as yet taken such action, on the ground that the Democratic party cannot afford to lose the favors of women voters.

In a letter made public today, advising the legislature of his home State, Virginia, to ratify the amendment, he declares that the States in which women now have the ballot will be the pivotal ones in the next election.

Suffrage leaders expressed surprise on learning of the letter, having catalogued the secretary as "hopeless." They look upon the letter as one of the most important contributions to the cause since the amendment was adopted, because of the Secretary Glass' influence in the Democratic party and the fact that he is a southerner.

They discovered their mistake too late to walk the several blocks intervening. With the right of officials they commandeered a passing automobile driven by a man. They explained their
